

1,500 TUNNEL WORKERS ARE OUT ON STRIKE

So Declares Chairman Gustav Weinberg, of the New Union.

7,500 BY TO-MORROW.

Contractors, However, Tell an Altogether Different Story.

THEY DENY TROUBLE.

Work Is Proceeding and They Have More Men Than They Need.

According to Chairman Gustav Weinberg, of the newly organized United Tunnel Workers, more than 1,500 tunnel employees have already quit and to-morrow 7,500 more will have walked out, completely tying up operations in all the tunnels now in course of construction under the East and North Rivers and in the Pennsylvania road's downtown cut.

According to the superintendents and contractors having the contracts in charge, less than fifty electricians have struck and their places have been promptly filled with new applicants.

According to bosses at work in the tunnels operations are going on as usual with full forces, the men generally are satisfied with conditions and there is not the slightest danger of any serious trouble.

Chairman Weinberg first announced his big strike for yesterday. He failed to materialize, and then he said it would possibly begin this evening. He also announced that there would be a conference of all the grades of tunnel laborers to-night at the Temple in East Eighty-fourth street. A reporter for The Evening World to-day learned that no such meeting was entered on the date book for to-night and that nothing was known about Mr. Weinberg or his plans there.

On the surface there was no sign of any business in operation at the Manhattan end of any of the tunnels. Supt. Paul E. Brown, of the United Engineering Contracting Company, which is building the Pennsylvania tunnels, said:

"We have more men at work than we need. We had to lay off forty men last week and may lay off ten more. Mr. Weinberg's new union is not affiliated in any way with Local No. 2, the regular electrical union, nor with the American Federation of Labor. The great majority of the tunnel men are not members of any union. There can be no general strike."

Superintendent Butler, of the Degan Company, which is constructing the Belmont tunnels, said practically what Mr. Brown did. Mr. Butler declared there had been no trouble of any sort at the Degan diggings.

Mr. Weinberg said the companies were working a few men about the mouths of the tunnels to keep them open so that operations were practically at a standstill within. He announced that there was a unanimous sentiment in favor of a strike.

One of Weinberg's lieutenants, a young electrician, also told a different story. "So far as I know," he said, "only about twenty men are actually on strike. As a matter of fact, our union isn't fully organized yet. We have no charter, but we have formed a committee to take steps, and when we have all the men on the job organized we'll pull off the biggest strike you ever heard of. But it may take time, because there are 15,000 men to be organized."

"PRO" GOLFERS' SECOND DAY AT VAN CORTLANDT

Smith Is Picked to Win Out in Tourney On Public Links.

VAN CORTLANDT PARK, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The men most likely to win the professional open tournament now in progress at the Van Cortlandt Park public links were all full of hope and determination when they drove off this morning in the first eighteen holes of the second day's play.

Although Alex Campbell and Donald Ross were tied in first play at 150, the strongest favorite was Alexander Smith, Nassau Country Club, the national, western and metropolitan champion.

Smith is playing a very steady game and is regarded as one of the most consistent golfers in the country. Isaac Mackie, Foxhills Golf Club, who won the first of these public tournaments last year, is well up in the race and has quite a following.

Alexander Smith carried the gallery of the morning and did the course in 76, which with his 75 and 74 of yesterday brought his total of 125 up to 228. Donald Ross, who tied with Alex Campbell in the lead at 150, fell down this morning doing an 82, with a grand total of 232.

George Turnbull, Waterbury, who had a 79 and a 74 yesterday with a total of 153, surprised his friends with a round of 72, which tied his total with that of Alex Smith at 225.

Some of the early scores follow: D. O'Leary, North Jersey, 76, 160—235. T. Hueske, Van Cortlandt, 80, 167—247. G. J. Turnbull, Waterbury, 75, 155—230. Alex Ross, Bernardsville, 81, 171—252. J. Young, Yonkers, 78, 162—240.

J. Hutchinson, St. Andrews, 82, 158—240. G. Thompson, Roswell, 81, 165—246. W. R. Robinson, Atlantic City, 85, 163—248. J. Clark, Wilmington, 74, 160—234. Donald Ross, Philadelphia Country, 82, 150—232. G. P. Brown, Fox Hills, 81, 167—248. J. Young, Yonkers, 78, 162—240.

PULLIAM SUSPENDS OLD HANK O'DAY

Harry Pulliam, President of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, has suspended "Old Hank" O'Day for disobeying orders in not appearing at the Polo Grounds yesterday and unifying the game between the Giants and the Cardinals.

President Pulliam and O'Day met at the former's office to-day. Hank told Pulliam that his reason for not showing up at the game was because he thought he was unjustly fined and discharged in connection with the fight between Pitcher Joe McGinnity and Catcher Post in Pittsburgh last week. This excuse did not satisfy the league President.

Joseph Ward, of the Philadelphia Club, has also been suspended by Pulliam for violation of contract in not reporting to that club.

An evasive Ward reporter talked to Pulliam this morning and the official explained the part in the McGinnity-Post affair as follows: "When McGinnity and Post came to blows I was behind the plate several feet away. At the time the people were cheering like maniacs over the two runs which the Pittsburghs had just scored. As soon as I saw the men come to blows I rushed toward them to stop them, but the other players got there ahead of me and separated the players. I immediately ordered both players of the field. Now if I should be fined and disciplined for this I think it is about time I got of the game. That is the reason why I will not unnerve again until my fine is remitted."

"If President Pulliam refuses to remit the fine I do you intend to join the 'outlaw league'," asked the reporter. "Certainly not. I can not imagine how that story got circulated. I never had any intention of umpiring in the T-1 State League and I don't intend to do so now," replied O'Day.

UMPIRE OWENS NOT GUILTY OF BETTING

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1.—Clarence Owens, the umpire of the American Baseball Association who was charged with having made bets on games in which he officiated as umpire, was completely exonerated to-day at a meeting of the board of directors of the association.

Two resolutions were prepared and adopted by the officials without a dissenting vote. The first resolution declared the charges "wholly and entirely false" and were "maliciously made for the purpose of injuring" Owens. The second resolution directed the President of the American Association to investigate and determine the persons responsible for the charges, and recommended prompt and adequate punishment for the guilty party or parties.

The clubs voting were Columbus, St. Paul, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Louisville.

The evidence against Owens consisted of three affidavits to the effect that Owens had put up $200 with certain persons to be placed upon games which he should designate. In rebuttal Mr. Owens's attorney, M. H. Boutelle, called as a witness a man named Robinson, who stated that he had been approached in a hotel in Minneapolis and offered $50 if he would make a similar affidavit against Owens. Robinson is a conductor employed by the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Attorney Boutelle further declared that he was prepared to show that each of the affidavits offered in evidence was secured by the payment of money, and that one, if not all, of them was made under a fictitious name. There was no evidence against Owens other than the affidavits offered.

A Furniture Advertisement Without a Price in It

THE very bigness of this August Furniture Sale of ours makes it a hard thing to advertise in a way that will give you a good idea of its scope and importance. We are giving by far the lowest prices in New York and giving by far the largest choice at those low prices.
